BSmart Chart App puts HIV patients' interest at the centre of disease management with many features and functionalities that help take charge of their disease, achieve better outcomes and improve the quality of life. A first of a kind app that supports the optimization of HIV therapy in nine ways:

What does it do?

Monitor

By monitoring your parameters in day-to-day life, you are assisted in making better-informed therapy decisions.

Connect With A Buddy

By connecting with a buddy, you can have open, honest conversations about your HIV disease management.

Connect With A Clinician

By connecting with your healthcare professional, you can be involved in your disease management by sharing your data reports for discussion of therapy.

Therapy Compliance

By receiving motivational triggers (e.g medication and appointment reminders) feedback on your current therapy status and rewards, you increase therapy compliance.

Brain Builders

By enhancing your knowledge and skills in HIV disease through interactive quizzes and exercises, you will better understand its symptoms, how it may progress, what treatment options are available, and understand what your doctor is doing and be part of the treatment journey.

Support Engagement

By improving engagement in care, ART adherence and social support with other people living with HIV, through daily discussions, peer sharing, you will empower your mental and emotional wellbeing, leading to better health outcomes.

Status Disclosure

By disclosing your HIV status using BSmart Chart, you can combat stigma without having to face anyone and feel uncomfortable, tailored to «who needs to know» and «what they need to know».

Knowledge Hub

By accessing your desired information from legitimate sources on HIV-related issues and general health, you will get the intended benefit with up-to-date information and ensure the care you get is truly around your needs.

Access To Medicine

By participating in clinical trials you will have the possibility to access innovative therapy.
